Dear Mary,

My memory may be tricking me, but I believe I sent Paul a copy of my complaint in the clothing suit in August, with the request that he make himself a copy and provide copies to anyone else wanting one. I do not recall any word from him on this and also believe he had not returned that copy.

This occurred to me as I was doing some work on that suit. Therefore, I am sending you my best carbon for you to copy and in the hope you will provide them to those who may want to see. I anticipate this will include Harry, Howard and Marshall, the latter two perhaps unknown to you.

When you have copied this, in deference to my eyes, I'd appreciate its return, so that when I work I can use the best copy I have.

I am preparing a new one I expect to make soon and will send a copy of that. Jim is supposed to have sent you something recently, as I asked, but I forget what (the complexity of keeping track of my supposed lawyer(s), the litigation and other things while I read proofs is getting to be a bit much).

Some time ago I sent Cyril Wecht a copy of Paul's thing and asked for comment I could use. His delayed but polite reply, received today, says no more than that Paul is wrong and that Jim and Sylvia had sent him copies! It looks like Cyril is not going to do any real work, spend any real time, to frustrate this or help refute.

Mostly,
